NANOTECH NYC

Nanotech NYC is the flagship hub of Nanotech Alliance. We are a community of scientists and engineers committed to the growth of the nanotechnology and nanoscience communities. Through partnerships with local organizations like research institutions and companies, we offer programming that spans education, outreach, and career development in nanotechnology.

EVENTS

What We Do

NANOCHATS

- Our Nanochat series brings industry, academic and entrepreneurial speakers to sites across NYC.
- Speakers give lectures designed to include individuals from diverse backgrounds and invite interdisciplinary discussions.
- Events have already been held at Microsoft, NYU Tandon, CUNY, and New Lab, NYC's premier incubator advanced manufacturing facility.

NANONITES

- Our Nanonite series is designed to be a relaxed and social networking experience in an informal setting.
- The events create a much needed forum for developing new connections and possible collaborations.
- Events are held at area restaurants and bars throughout the city.
- Attendees are highly diverse, including PhD students, IP Lawyers, professors, investors and more.

YOUR FUTURE

Get Involved!

In the last year, we've hosted several events in the greater NYC area and look forward expanding our presence and offerings. The fast growth of Nanotech NYC has led to increased demand for passionate speakers and dedicated sponsors. This is an excellent opportunity for thought leaders and senior technologists to engage with the top talent in the nanotech community. We welcome speakers and sponsors from all avenues of nano—from the hottest local start-ups to the industry's founding companies.
